

CSRA + Update Training :

Upgrade Your Sustainability Assurance Competence with ISSA 5000

As sustainability reporting continues to evolve, assurance professionals are expected to understand and apply the latest international assurance requirements. The issuance of ISSA 5000 – General Requirements for Sustainability Assurance Engagements marks a major milestone in the global development of sustainability assurance practices.

This CSRA+ Update Training is designed to help existing CSRA and CSRA+ holders refresh, upgrade, and strengthen their professional competence in sustainability assurance, particularly in relation to the application of ISSA 5000.

Why This Training Matters

Sustainability assurance is no longer limited to checking disclosures. Assurance practitioners are increasingly expected to evaluate the reliability of sustainability information, understand assurance risks, assess evidence, and form appropriate assurance conclusions.

Through this training, participants will gain an updated understanding of sustainability assurance based on ISSA 5000, including its implications for professional practice, assurance engagement planning, evidence evaluation, and reporting.

Why You Should Join

By attending this training, participants will be able to:

1. Understand and Perform Sustainability Assurance Engagements Based on ISSA 5000

Participants will gain practical understanding of the key requirements of ISSA 5000 and how they apply to sustainability assurance engagements, including:

- Assurance engagement acceptance and continuance;
- Preconditions for sustainability assurance engagements;
- Understanding the entity and sustainability information;
- Materiality and assurance risk considerations;
- Planning and performing assurance procedures;
- Evaluating evidence;
- Forming assurance conclusions;
